“ So many memories, but one things for sure he was stubborn and determined. He'd get an idea and get so excited over it. He lived life to the fullest. Even,if that ment breaking the rules and getting a tech to meet me n the parking with food at midnight lol. God let him live beyond his accident many years and he touched many lives and made many smile. U could have the crapiest day and go see him and even if u didn't talk,about,your crap day is feel better. He was a good guy wish I seen him more. Didn't realize I was running out of time. But guess w i th life in general e never know when,our time will come so we have to live life to the fullest. And no matter what the circumstance, he did that, he made the most of his life. And had plans to do so much more and I know he could have. My great is hurt can't bel u eve he's gone. I love his family and if y'all need anything plz,let me know. Yes I took care of Justin for quite some,time but he was also my friend.

“ Justin was a dear friend of my daughter, the late Nicole Daniel Adcock . She would visit him when he was in the hospital , and when he came home . I remember seeing Justin one day , I think at Wal-Mart . We had conversation , and he told me how much Nicole's visits meant to him , he said of all his friends , she was the one who stayed a true friend .
My heart is broken . I send you my prayers and love . I ask God to be with all of you , during this time . I know in my heart that he is now in Heaven with Nicole , they are friends joined together in Heaven . Rest in peace Justin .
My deepest sympathy to the family .
With love , Loretta Patterson
Mother of the late Nicole Daniel Adcock
