“ There’s so much I can say about Kenny. It was an honor to have been in his wedding to Heather. Back then, he was like an over-protective big brother to me. I used to hate those cold days watching him play football with his friends, but would give anything to have another day like that - when he was big, strong, gentle giant Kenny and that’s how I will always choose to remember him! He was a proud papa when each of his kiddos were born. I had moved away from town for many years, but when I moved back, his son knocked on my door selling stuff for football not knowing I was once in his parents wedding or held him as a baby and I said “you look just like your dad”. Kenny has left behind little precious pieces of him I’m all of his children. Prayers for all of you!
