“ When we were just boys, marble shooting was the best game in Asbury. Kenneth was always one of the best players. We spent hours together with our knees on the ground and arguing about which shooter marbles were the best. Fights often broke out with the neighbor's kids resulting in dusty clothes and a few scrapes and bruises.

We were close as boys and young men. The war changed us both and it was harder for Kenneth than most.

Rest in peace. You will be remembered.
