My heart has broken that I have lost my bestfriend (sissy). We became friends on yahoo messenger and chatted with each other. Soon we were calling each other I promised to visit her and I did when she was so sick I was afraid I wouldn't make it but I did 2 times and she and Jean (another precious lady) came to visit me. Christina your mom was so proud of you! When Ramsey entered the world Laurie was on top of the world she was so excited to be a grandmother! I will miss my friend. We were suppose to travel together but she left me behind, I know she is in heaven looking down on her loved ones "I can only imagine". I will see you again my friend soon. I love you sissy.

With great regret an angel has received her wings. Laurie wasn't just my client she was a friend. Through the years I have witnessed her endurance, love of life and family. The greatest accomplishment to her was having Christina. Turning out to be a wonderful daughter and friend. She was very proud. When Ramsey was born she was ecstatic. Remember the lady that always had a smile and your back. Nothing scared her and when you were her friend it was special. Fly high my friend and keep Jean in line. Love you, Kate
